

PRESS KIT

FAITHFUL WORK

One-third of our waking lives is spent at work. Work is where we make culture and come into contact with our world. Work is central to God's mission to redeem souls, systems, and structures. And God works through our work to bring hope to the brokenness and fallenness of our surrounding culture. With that in mind the IVP publicity team has put together the following list of resources to inspire, inform, and challenge you as you move into a new year of professional growth and faithful work. For an extensive list of IVP books about work and vocation visit this link at ivpress.com.

Coming in Fall 2024 from the author of *Canoeing the Mountains!

Tod Bolsinger will be releasing the Practicing Change Series, including How Not to Waste a Crisis, Leading Through Resistance, Invest in Transformation, and The Mission Always Wins.

Request a review copy or interview.

FAITHFUL WORK:

In the Daily Grind with God and for Others

View Book

“With refreshing brevity, biblical wisdom, and consistent attention to the daily grind of work, Faithful Work invites Christians to see their work as an essential element of God’s redemptive activity. This book is perfect for all workers who are eager to find deeper meaning and purpose in their daily work. It would also be an effective discussion starter for small groups, adult classes, and faith-based employee resource groups. Faithful Work inspires us with the bold claim that ‘our greatest opportunity is daily work.’”

—MARK D. ROBERT, senior strategist for Max De Pree Center for Leadership

ROSS CHAPMAN is the CEO of Denver Institute for Faith & Work. He previously founded and served as president and executive director of For Evansville in Evansville, Indiana. He holds a doctorate of ministry in faith, work, economics, and vocation from Fuller Theological Seminary.

RYAN TAFILOWSKI is assistant professor of theology at Denver Seminary and lead pastor of Foothills Fellowship Church in Denver. He holds a PhD in systematic theology from the University of Edinburgh and has served as theologian-in-residence for Denver Institute for Faith & Work. He is the author of Virtue and Vice at Work.

Request a review copy or interview.

THE SPIRITUAL ART OF BUSINESS:

Connecting the Daily with the Divine

View Book

“Corporate mystic” Barry Rowan invites us to be transformed by God that he might transform the world through us as we begin to see our work as an extension of our faith. He says, “We don’t derive meaning from our work; we bring meaning to our work.” Relating his extensive past in high-ranking executive roles, Rowan beckons us into a connection with God that will infuse our lives, our offices, and our world with meaning.

“A seasoned C-suite executive, Rowan has thought deeply about the theological and practical realities of God working through him in the marketplace. And in this study he takes us on a four-part journey of surrender, transformation, realignment, and fulfillment. It’s a journey every Christ-follower in business should take, and Barry is a worthy guide and mentor in this important spiritual work.”

—JOHN COLEMAN, managing partner of Sovereign’s Capital and author of *The HBR Guide to Crafting Your Purpose

BARRY L. ROWAN, a Harvard Business graduate who has filled a range of C-suite roles, has been instrumental in building and transforming eight businesses, primarily in the technology and communications space. In addition, he serves on corporate, university, and nonprofit boards. Deeply immersed in Scripture and spiritual writers, Rowan has been called a “corporate mystic.” He and his wife, Linda, have two adult sons and live in Denver.

Request a review copy or interview.

WOMEN, WORK, & CALLING:

Step Into Your Place in God's World

View Book

Joanna Meyer addresses a critical gap in Christian women's discipleship by speaking to the roles we play in public and professional life. Acknowledging the brokenness of workplaces and industries, she provides a theological framework for women's work and influence and offers resources for the challenges of working life. This book will help you:

- Ignite your vocational imagination, with a biblical framework for work and calling.
- Build strength from within, with emotional and spiritual health to support your work.
- Navigate common workplace challenges, with practical tools to help your influence grow.
- Pursue purposeful relationships, collaborating and building strong relationships with others.

"Meyer successfully delivers the inspiring message that Christian working women should 'lean hard on the Lord and allow his love to guide and sustain you.' This is perfect for those who feel caught between religious and professional identities."

—Publishers Weekly, May 2023

JOANNA MEYER is director of public engagement at the Denver Institute for Faith & Work, where she leads public events, hosts the Faith & Work Podcast, and founded Women, Work, & Calling. Prior to joining the Institute, she worked in global telecom, nonprofit consulting, and campus ministry with Cru. Joanna served as associate faculty at Denver Seminary and completed a certificate in Women in Leadership through Cornell University. She contributed to Women & Work and has written for Faith Driven Entrepreneur and various Denver Institute publications.

Request a review copy or interview.

WORKING FROM THE INSIDE OUT:

A Brief Guide to Inner Work That Transforms Our Outer World

View Book

"Jeff Haanen is one of the foremost thought leaders of this generation on the topic of faith and work. In Working from the Inside Out, Jeff provides anecdotal and prescriptive insights that will inspire and move you to action. Jeff's wisdom and perception are profound in helping readers bridge the sacred/secular divide. This book helps you understand how your work can serve as the most valuable tool Christians have to make a difference in the world. However, we must change internally before we can change the external world."

—DAVID STIDHAM, vice president of business affairs and general counsel for The Chosen

JEFF HAANEN is a writer and entrepreneur. He founded Denver Institute for Faith and Work, a community of conveners, teachers, and learners offering experiences and educational resources on the gospel, work, and community renewal. He writes on faith, finance, work, business, and culture. Jeff writes for Christianity Today and Comment magazine, and is the author of An Uncommon Guide to Retirement: Finding God's Purpose for the Next Season of Life.

Request a review copy or interview.

DISCOVER JOY IN WORK:

Transforming Your Occupation Into Your Vocation

View Book

“In Shundrawn Thomas’s Discover Joy in Work, I’ve found at last the book I’ve been seeking for the business people, professionals, and students looking for career guidance in my church. I love the fact that this book is both current in its research about issues related to occupation and vocation as well as rooted in sound theology and biblical understanding. Amazingly, it is also a wonderful read, filled with well-told stories and practical application. In reading this book, people’s lives will be transformed as we begin to see our work not as something we have to do but as a place, people, and task to which God has sent us.”

—GREG WAYBRIGHT, senior pastor, Lake Avenue Church, Pasadena

SHUNDRAWN A. THOMAS is president of a trillion-dollar global investment management business, and is a management group member of a leading financial services company. He previously worked for Goldman Sachs and Morgan Stanley. Thomas is a motivational speaker and lecturer speaking nationally on topics including professional development, leadership, values, faith, strategy, and finance. He is the author of Ridiculous Faith: Ordinary People Living Extraordinary Lives and Driving Under the Influence: Finding Your Way on the Road of Life.

Request a review copy or interview.

THE CRUCIBLES THAT SHAPE US:

Navigating the Defining Challenges of Leadership

View Book

“The Crucibles That Shape Us combines extraordinarily wide multidisciplinary learning with intense leadership experience and profound interior reflection to guide any interested reader into a deeper and more fruitful life. The seven fiery trials Gayle Beebe describes, through which each of us shall inevitably pass, will surely either shape, scar, or sear us. There’s only one person I know who could have written this book, but there are multitudes of us who need to read it.”

—JOHN ORTBERG, pastor and author of Eternity Is Now in Session

GAYLE D. BEEBE (MBA and PhD, Claremont Graduate University) is president of Westmont College in Santa Barbara, California. He is also the author of The Shaping of an Effective Leader and the coauthor of Longing for God with Richard J. Foster.

Request a review copy or interview.

